

GETTING BETTER

*Old man sits still
by the windmill of time,
taking stock of all the bird that fly.
On the crest of a hill
Is where he spends all his time,
taking pills just to keep him alive.*

*He said, I'm getting better, for I have learnt to make you smile
I'm growing wiser, for I have fed all the birds that fly.*

*He closes his eyes, from the dust that has risen.
He said that all, from the good lord was given.
Like a child, I was once ego ridden,
but now I can see what it is to be forgiven, (he said)*

*I'm getting better, for the I have learnt to that make you smile.
I'm growing wiser, for the I have fed all the birds that fly.
I'm growing stronger, cause love is a friend of mine,
He said, never say never, for tomorrow never dies*

It's Just a day like any other hear you say, that it will get better (x2)

*I'm getting better, for I have learnt to make you smile
I'm growing wiser, for I have fed all the birds that fly
I'm getting stronger cause love is a friend of mine (he said)
never say never for tomorrow never dies*